

It Can't Be Over

by Ninathewaffle

Category: Inuyasha

Genre: Angst, Romance

Language: English

Characters: Kagome H., Sesshomaru

Status: In-Progress

Published: 2016-04-08 00:40:41

Updated: 2016-04-09 06:41:20

Packaged: 2016-04-27 22:09:40

Rating: T

Chapters: 2

Words: 2,877

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: What happens when doubt is whispered in his ear? These words ring true. After he notices the things that he is causing he has to make a choice: Let her go or be selfish and keep her. A songfic.

DISCLAIMER: I do not own inuyasha

1. Chapter 1

*Hey guys! I am new to this website! And this story came into my head while I was watching Monster High: Boo York. it's just a songfiction. If you like it enough I will turn it into a chapter story. So here goes. ****

Shesshomaru entered the home he shared with his girlfriend. He took a deep breath. His mind kept replaying the conversation he has just had with Kikyō. How had her words hit him so hard. The Inuyōkai was never weakened by words. They never mattered to him, but for some reason what she had told him hit home. It stung to hear what he might be doing to his beloved girlfriend. Shesshomaru turned down the hall and went into the room they shared. And there she was. Her long midnight black hair hung near her rear, swaying lightly as she tilted her head to fix her make up for the mating ceremony that was taking place in a few hours.

Meeting this woman was the best thing to happen to him. But of course there was a problem. She was a miko, and not just regular miko but a kami half blood. Her father is a kami and her mother the shikon miko. Her status was so highly regarded. And she had chosen him, a youkai prince. In her parents eyes she had picked a peasant. And their daughter was too prized to be with a peasant such as an inuyōkai. He was reminded of this constantly. But the parents loved their daughter too much to choose a mate for her.

Shesshomaru returned his attention to the woman of his thoughts. She had yet to notice he had entered the room as she hummed softly. The miko had the voice of all angels. She was absolutely beautiful. The dress she wore accented all her curves while keeping her classy. Her toned legs hidden under the pale purple fabric of her gown. The demon prince loved the woman in front of him.

And that was why he had to do this.

"Kagome."

She turned at the sound of his voice and smiled brightly. Her smile faded as she caught a glimpse of pain in his eyes before they turned back into the hard golden eyes she had fallen in love with.

"Shesshomaru. What's wrong?" She asked. Kagome approached him slowly and caressed his cheek. He leaned into her touch. Did he really want to do this?

"We can not see each other any longer." His voice sounded so foreign. He felt his heart freeze as she looked him in the eyes. Tears began to form, he could smell them.

Look at you, and look at me

You deserve everything, you're royalty

I'm just an average guy, oh yes it's true

I know just what to do when it comes down to me and you

Shesshomaru backed away from Kagome. He look into the sad blue eyes of the woman he loved deeply. How could it come to this? She was his. She was supposed to be his mate. But Kikyou's words kept replaying in her mind.

_"You're just holding her back." _

Was he? But she had grown so strong since he had met he almost 550 years ago. And even stronger at a faster rate in the 200 years they had been together.

I hate to have this happen

The way it has to happen

"You may be of high status in this world, but in our realm you are below even a commoner"

He understood her worry. In Kagome's realm he was just a blotch. Nothing but a person. A being. In His realm Kagome was worshipped. She was above all. She had saved them from the evil hanyou Naraku. Killing her first love for trying to destroy the world she loved. That was 500 years ago.

What I thought was perfect matching was a perfect mismatch

_"She is giving up everything to be with you. She already has." _

I think I owe it to you, to set you free

_""Cause you'll be better, better of without me"_He told his only love as she stepped towards him. The pain in his voice froze her on the spot. Why was he saying this?

_"You are destroying her future!" _

No! He had to do this!

We gotta get real and leave this alone

We don't go together we're so wrong for each other

You're a royal girl and I'm an average Joe

_You gotta understand that we have to break up."
_Shesshomaru whispered. He couldn't believe he was saying this to the girl he loved more than his own life. Maybe that was why he did it.

Sorry it over

""Sorry it's over." He looked into her tear coupled eyes.

You and I, we're so wrong

We're not perfect after all

Everybody knows **

Everybody knows

That this is the end.

Shesshomaru turned to walk away and the flashbacks came to him. All the times they shared. All the times she saved him. And the few times he saved her. He never realized how much stronger she was. But she held back because her holy power could kill him.

Over time I held you back

You're just too good for me and I know that's a fact

Kagome couldn't believe her ears. Was he really leaving her, why? She needed to know why. She was so happy with him. Her parents were warming up to him and all of her people liked him because he made her happy. Why would he do this. Then she realized.. He was with Kikyou before he came here.

This relationship has turned to stone

Her sister. His ex. She hated their relationship. She wanted him back. And wanted Kagome unhappy. She must have done something.

_I should get going now, I'm better off leaving you alone"
_Shesshomaru took one last look at his only love and then reached for the doorknob. He didn't expect her hand to grab his arm, and to turn him to face her. Her face full of anger and pain, and still love. No hatred at all.

"_Don't back away from me, this isn't like you. _

What's gotten into you tell me who said what to you.

To make you do this. Think for a minute. **

I don't care what others have to say about us, and neither should you."

Shesshomaru sighed. She always knew when something bothered him. No matter how much he tried to hide it. She wasn't going to make this any easier. Because as she had told him before..she fights for what she truly loves.

He pulled his hand back as if her touch burned him. Kagome felt a stab in her heart as her dearest love pulled away from her.

Shesshomaru couldn't fix what he just did

I gotta get real and leave this alone

Kagome didn't want this. He couldn't leave her.

Don't leave me alone

He couldn't look at her..his resolve was weakening fast

_"We don't go together we're so wrong for each other"- He had to break her so she wouldn't come back.

You're a Royal girl and I'm an average Joe

_"You gotta understand that we have to break up" _Oh how he wished he didn't have to do this. But she needed to live fully. Without fear of hurting him. "_Sorry it's over"-

_"This can't be over" _She hadn't meant to say that out loud but it happened. She stepped forward and grabbed his hand.

Shesshomaru couldn't understand why she wouldn't just let him go. It hurt every time he saw the pain in her eyes.

We're so wrong for each other

We're not perfect after all

And everybody knows

Every body knows

*_This is the end" _He watched as her hand felt to her side. Then she brought it up to her heart.

That bitch Kikyou came after Shesshomaru at his weakest moment. After what he had just experienced. How could she? Kagome could barely keep ahold of her miko powers as she thought about it.

This hurts inside of me

*_Why do you think this is the way it has to be?*_" Kagome grabbed his hand and pulled it to her face. He cupped her cheek as she held back tears. She looked into his eyes and hoped to see some sort of sign that he would change his mind.

Look at the picture

"We're not breaking up" **

She saw none. Only solid gold as cold as ice.

You're perfect for me you see

Oh oh oh oh ohh~

You and I were meant to be

As one

He shook her off and gave her a look. It was so hard for him to even think of looking at her like that. He hadn't since they had first met.

"I'm really sorry but we're done." **

And with that Shesshomaru walked away from his beloved Kagome. As he did a single tear fell down his cheek, just as Kagome collapsed onto the floor and cried. He had left. They were no more. And it hurt a lot more than he let her see. Now she could be her best. She didn't have him holding her back. And he no longer had to care about someone. He could return to being the one thing he was best, The Youkai Prince. A killing perfection.

2. Chapter 2

Hey I hope you enjoy. **

I do not own any of the Inuyasha characters. **

2.*_ The aftermath: Her side_

Kagome sat staring at the door that her inuyoukai had walked out of. Her make up all but ruined by the tears that continued to fall, even hours after he had left. She couldn't move. How was she to live without her beloved prince? She felt no need to. Her heart was frozen in a million pieces. Every time she loved someone they left.

First it had been the hanyou. She had meet him on her first trip to this realm. She remembered it very clearly. It was her first memory of the realm for her.

_She was exiting a small shop. Amazed by everything around her. Kagome paid no heed to the people who watched the glowing girl in a dark kimono. That is until she ran into someone. He was breathtaking. Rivaling even some of the gods in her home. A soft face with seductive red eyes, and beautiful, wavy, black hair held in a ponytail. He wore purple silk and seemed angry. _

_ "Foolish girl. Watch where you are goi-". His words ceased when he looked into her eyes. They were such a shade of blue, so unworldly. The girl bowed slightly._

_ " My apologies. I was distracted ." Kagome could feel her heart bounding in her chest. This man was beautiful. _

_"You are forgiven. Allow me to accompany you in a walk?" The hanyou offered his arm. Kagome placed her hand in the bed of his elbow. And they walked. The hanyou kept conversation as the gathered attention from the humans in the village. _

_"So your father is a spider youkai. And your mother? " Kagome asked her companion as she took a rest on a rock in the middle of a clearing. He looked at her. _

"My mother was human. But she died 300 years ago. Now it is just me and my father." He spoke as if it still hurt. Kagome leaned her head against his shoulder. She just met this man and already did not like seeing him in pain. They sat like this until the sunset. And then they departed.

They continued to meet there every night for 2 years.

Kagome looked down at her hand. The scar reminding her of their promise. She had met Shesshomaru a few months after that.

"Kagome! Why are you not dressed?!" Ayame asked. She stopped at the sight of her friend. Quickly she knelt in front of her. Kagome's hair was messy, her eyeliner had been smeared and spread over her face giving her the look of a melting raccoon. _What the hell? _ "Kagome! Oh my gosh! What's wrong? Should I call Shesshomaru?" Ayame had her phone out and was about to press the green call button but was stopped. Her phone had been hurled across the room. She stared at Kagome with wide eyes.

"No. Don't!" She yelled. She pulled away from her friend. " We are not together anymore.." Kagome's voice cracked as she spoke. It hurt even more to say it out loud. Ayame couldn't believe this. That idiot! Her cousin could do some stupid stuff. But this took the cake.

"That fool." She whispered. "Well hun, let's get ready anyway. Don't ever let a guy steal your joy."

The wolf princess stood and helped her broken miko fix her make up. She could see that Kagome was not fully there. Her eyes constantly filled with tears that she refused to shed, laughing it off with a simple "I've cried enough" . Ayame was far from pissed at her older cousin. Just yesterday he was talking of mating the girl, and suddenly he left her. She put the thought out of her head for the moment. They had a mating ceremony to attend.

The trip there was silent. Kagome had decided to fly them there since they had left so late. The ceremony was being held in Inuyasha's Forest. It was well preserved thanks to Shesshomaru. As they flew above the trees an old rotting hut caught her eye. Kagome remembered spending many nights there.

_"You are late." The red eyed hanyou whispered. He had approached her from the shadows, even though she could sense him. She smiled softly and turned to the man she had been courting for a year now. _

_"My apologies. Shesshomaru and I had to deal with a kitsune demon. He had gone mad. His mouth foamed with white saliva." Kagome always explained herself more than needed around her hanyou. He silenced her with a gentle kiss. He pulled away before she could react. _

_"The all powerful Shesshomaru could not handle a simple Kitsune?" He asked. Kagome smiled. The Youkai Prince and Her hanyou could never get along. _

_" Actually he wanted to see if I could handle it." She admitted. "It was weird. The demon seemed to target Shesshomaru. It was barely paying attention to me. Like it was sent to attack him." _

_Kagome failed to see the anger that flashed in her hanyou's eyes before they were filled with love. He hugged her and pressed a kiss to her forehead. _

_"I am glad that you are unharmed." He whispered before claiming her lips with his own. He led her to the plush cot inside of the small hut he had built in their clearing. _

_"I love you Kagome." He whispered from above her. _

_"And I you, Naraku." _

Kagome came back to reality as she landed in front of the palace built in the sacred forest. The phoenix they had flew extinguish its flames before Kagome handed the reigns to a stable boy. The two girls entered the palace and handed their coats to the boar demon at the door. The ballroom was decorated beautifully.

Gold and red ribbons looped the columns with artfully tied bows on the top. To the left of the door was a long gift table, already overflowing with gifts. To the left was a small refreshment table. Waiters paraded around with trays of wine, champagne, fresh meats, vegetables, fruits, and even chocolate. The sight of chocolate slightly lifted the miko's mood. She smiled gratefully at one of the waiters who offered her a chocolate. Taking it she bowed slightly and bit into the treat. It was filled with a wonderful taro jelly. Making her even happier.

Ayame felt the shift in her friend and smiled at the way Kagome's eyes lit up. Maybe that icepop of a cousin didn't kill the light in her friend. Just maybe she wouldn't have to beg the gods to heal her friend. Just maybe for once Kagome wouldn't have to hurt so much.

That entire idea vanished when she saw her friend's eyes go dim and stared into space. Ayame followed her gaze and growled. He still had the nerve to show up here. After what he did.

That bastard wanted to die.

Kagome stared at the man that was standing at the door. His eyes unreadable. Kagome hadn't seen him enter, nor felt him. He wore a basic black tui, but Kagome had to admit he looked charming. She couldn't believe he even showed up here. After what he did how could he walk beside Inuyasha as if nothing happened. She slowly approached them. He turned to look at her.

"Kagome." He said. The said girl took a deep breath. She had to face him. Maybe things could be civil between them.

"Bankotsu."

I apologize for it being so short. Next time I will work harder to make it longer. I felt this was a nice place to stop. **

End
file.